Setting the Standard.

UNLEASHING THE POWER OF DAIRY INGREDIENTS

ADPI is committed to the development of dairy ingredient standards and specifications that drive the development and use of dairy ingredients while ensuring product quality and consistency. ADPI advocates for policies that support the dairy industry, including trade agreements and food safety regulations.

INGREDIENT RESOURCES

ADPI provides a variety of technical resources to reference and utilize when it comes to the production and use of dairy ingredients, including Application and Functionality Guides and Ingredient Bulletins. Resources are reviewed and developed regularly.

INSIGHTS AND INFORMATION

On an annual and monthly basis, ADPI produces various reports that provide in-depth analysis of the dairy industry. These publications cover topics such as market forecasts and ingredient production and utilization data, granting access to a wealth of industry insights and information, keeping members regularly updated.

Taking large, complex questions of standards, product names, government oversight, sustainability, and helping our members navigate them."

Leading the Way.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

A primary benefit of an ADPI membership is access to a wide range of training and professional development opportunities that build and enhance the skills and knowledge of members, ensuring they stay competitive and up-to-date with industry advancements. Our annual conference, seminars, educational webinars, and training courses cover the latest trends, technologies, and best practices in the dairy industry.

DairyU

ADPI offers specialized training resources tailored to various aspects of the dairy industry. From short-form videos to handbooks, guides and processing diagrams, these resources are created by subject matter experts and cover topics such as processing and applications, quality control, product innovation, regulatory compliance, and market trends. Members can access these resources at any time to gain practical knowledge and skills that apply directly to their work.

CENTER OF EXCELLENCE: SUBJECT MATTER EXPERTS AS CONSULTANTS

ADPI is pleased to offer a network of experienced dairy industry professionals serving as subject matter experts capable of addressing a wide range of topics as a key resource to ADPI Member organizations. Center of Excellence members act as consultants to engage on specific questions or challenges.

Training, consulting, and the simple act of a voice when a question needs an answer."
